

Our Friends Are Not So Dumb

It may be milk in that bottle—but Rollo's bright eye causes doubt among English circus patrons.

© A. P. Photo.

The better bred cats, it seems, are taking their nourishment with a straw these days. And in such a dainty manner.

© Globe.

Life is one date after another for Mary Panzee, the London Zoo's hula girl. Her phone is a great aid to popularity.

© Keystone.

These kittens know a soft spot. Only a foolish kitten would try to jump out of mistress' warm knitting bag on a stroll.

"Hey, keeper! Quit readin' and play awhile."

The familiar bird gets the corn.

Trials of a giraffe at the London Zoo. What's the good of an 8-foot neck if the keeper goes right on feeding all the cabbage to a dumb hippo?

© Wide World.

War clouds. Jackie, catching the preparedness fever, dons his gas mask. Peter views the international situation dolefully.

© A. P. Photo.